Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: applicant's arguments regarding the teachings in Vyakarnam et al for the tissue carrier matrix to be in "an injectable suspension" (see remarks, page 7, in particular) is fully considered but was not found to be persuasive because the disclosure of Vyakarnam for a soft, moldable tissue carrier matrix (see office action, page 3-4, in particular) made from polymeric foam materials, provides a reasonable basis to an artisan of ordinary skill in the tissue repair art to vary the ratio of polymers, shape, size, and form, etc. in order to obtain an optimal, injectable, tissue repair implant, as claimed in the invention as currently amended. Therefore, claims 1, 3-7 and 9-21 remain rejected under 35 USC 103(a) over the prior art cited and relied upon by the examiner in the manner as discussed in the final rejection mailed by the office (see office action mailed on January 4th 2007). Moreover, instant claims as amended remain rejected under obviousness-type double patenting (over co-pending application 10/374,772 and 10/374,754) as discussed in the previous office action (see page 8, in particular).

The instant claim 8 is objected to as being dependent on a rejected base claim 1 (as currently amended), and may be considered for allowance if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
